I have a node docker image and I want to install NPM in the container and use it to do some npm packages. I'm running the container with the "--user" flag. I can't find any documentation on npm's Docker file, so hopefully someone here can help me out. From a Dockerfile you see RUN apt-get update && \ apt-get install -y --no-install-recommends apt-utils && \ rm -rf /var/lib/apt/lists/* RUN mkdir -p /usr/local/var/log/nginx COPY./src /var/www/app.docker.com/ RUN mv /var/www/app.docker.com/public /usr/local/var/www/app.docker.com/public CMD ["npm", "run", "start"] And as an example of what I'm trying to achieve I run the following command in the container: npm install uuid npm install jmespath The issue is that both of the above fail. What do I need to do to get npm installed? A: The node docker image already installs node.js and npm so there is no need to install npm with node docker image unless you want to perform some node package specific operations. Installing npm with node docker image the simplest way would be like : node_packages=$(node -v) if ["$node_packages" = "v4.4.7"]; then npm install npm@latest -g --registry else echo "" echo "NodeJS version should be 4.4 or later" fi EXCLUSIVE Kirst
