No. 09/732,329, filed Dec. 4, 2000, which in turn is a continuation of Ser. No. 09/356,758, filed Jul. 24, 1999, now U.S. Pat. No. 6,101,023, which issued Jul. 8, 2000. This invention relates generally to a tailgate for a vehicle and, more particularly, to a tailgate having a striker pin. Bumpers have been developed for many years. Most bumpers have a strip of plastic molded to various designs and shapes. Of course, the plastic serves as a bumper in that it absorbs the energy of an impact to a vehicle. The earliest bumper systems, however, do not cover the entire width of the vehicle. More recently, xe2x80x9cunder-the-carxe2x80x9d bumper systems have been developed that are intended to capture the bumper in an event of a rear end collision. These under-the-car bumpers, as well as other bumper systems, utilize impact energy absorbing material to provide protection for
