David O'Connor (rugby union) David O'Connor (born 5 January 1951, Loughrea, County Galway) is an Irish former rugby union player. He was educated at Christian Brothers College, Castle Street, Dublin where he was Head Prefect. He played at number 8 for both his club, Old Crescent, and his county, Galway. He won 2 All-Ireland Medals with the club and one with the province. He was first capped for Connacht in 1970 against Leicester. O'Connor was a powerful inside centre with great acceleration and a defensive game. He wore the number 8 jersey with distinction at Old Cross until he left Connacht at the end of the 1975-76 season. From 1976 to 1979 he was with Gloucester where he first captained the club. In the 1977-78 season he played in a losing Grand Slam final side. From 1979-80 until 1985 he was a regular member of the New Zealand All Blacks, first touring with the side and then representing them at home. In 1981-82 he became captain of the side. O'Connor helped New Zealand win the first Rugby World Cup in either code, at the same time as Wales won the Five Nations. During that same series Australian flanker Brian Lochore, refusing to return to the well-rested New Zealand team after his own World Cup victory over Wales in the quarter-final, allegedly assaulted him. O'Connor was reluctant to accept Lochore's apology, instead sticking to his version of events. He played for the NPC in 1983 and finished his career in England at Gloucester.
