message to tizen app using websocket. I have used this example: (I have enabled the websocket attribute on the web application.
However, in this case, the message is sent with a undefined size. In the ws-client-but on the Tizen client side, it receives only null character. Thus the response message could not be parsed. Is there any different between the encoding for the websocket and the encoding of data sent by the server in the tizen-app? Could you help me to solve this problem? A: WebSocket works over HTTP. The
