Abraham Lincoln Vampire Hunter: This is an overlooked and terrific movie that leaves a deep impression in the viewer. The characters are very well thought out and wonderfully portrayed and I felt that the love triangle between Mary Todd Lincoln, Robert Lincoln and Mary Surratt who was accused of helping the Lincoln family get killed, is handled appropriately. I did like the way people rose up with their differences when things had to be done and how people would walk right alongside one another instead of try to negotiate who would get to which job and when. Abraham Lincoln Vampire Hunter: This is a movie that you should go see at the theater. There is no better place to see this movie than the world-class neighborhood we live in and you will understand that as you read the rest of this review. The director has created a wonderful backdrop for the screenplay and the actors and the dialogue are right on target. The special effects are many and several and not far from what has come before. The cast does a great job and the story is believable, even when some of the tragic events happened.
