Photoshop Camera was created in our San Francisco office alongside leadership from the film industry, where our team embodies the thoughtfulness and creativity that drive Adobe's mission. Our goal was simple: create an app that reimagines the way that smartphones capture and process photos. With Photoshop Camera, we accomplished this using AI tools that analyze the photo as it's being taken, then enhance it before it even hits the phone, resulting in consistently optimized photos. Using familiar photo editing tools like exposure, contrast, and vibrancy, we make it easy to be creative right at the point of capture.
